“Our work preferences and our life preferences do not stay the same because we do not stay the same.”

David Epstein

“Learning stuff was less important than learning about oneself. Exploration is not just a whimsical luxury of education; it is a central benefit.”

David Epstein

“The challenge we all face is how to maintain the benefits of breadth, diverse experience, interdisciplinary thinking, and delayed concentration in a world that increasingly incentivizes, even demands hyperspecialization.”

David Epstein

Range means different things of the same type

... think of speed and your upper and lower limits are you the fast, new car...perhaps the classic, older one...or

“You have people walking around with all the knowledge of humanity on their phone, but they have no idea how to integrate it. We don’t train people in thinking or reasoning.”

David Epstein

“First act and then think...We discover the possibilities by doing, by trying new activities, building new networks, finding new role models ...We learn who we are in practice, not in theory.”

“Modern work demands knowledge transfer: the ability to apply knowledge to new situations and different domains. Our most fundamental thought processes have changed to accommodate increasing complexity and the need to derive new patterns rather than rely only on familiar ones.”

“It is an experiment, as all life is an experiment”

Oliver Wendell Holmes
